The Corporate Information Security Policy:
The Foundation For A Secure Organization
Presenter: Denise Mack , BSc, CISM, SCPA, CISSP, ITCP, I.S.P.

Information security has been a popular topic of discussion since the media-worthy breaches that have occurred in recent years. These breaches, the media coverage, and the resultant legislative changes permanently changed the relationship between organizations and their data. In response, organizations are now focusing significant levels of money and effort to strengthen their information security posture. Denise will discuss the corporate information security policy and the role that it plays in achieving a secure and security-aware organization.

Denise Mack is a Senior Security Architect based in Regina. She has more than 25 years of experience in information technology, in servers, networks, security and architecture. Denise has assisted a number of clients in developing and implementing a security strategy, architecture and road map based upon their unique business concerns and technology environments. She has also provided professional services in areas such as information classification, valuation and security metadata, business continuity planning and disaster recovery planning (BCP/DRP), infrastructure architecture, infrastructure and security management, risk assessments, security assessments of project designs, standards development, reviewing business processes for information, infrastructure and security management, policy development, security awareness program development and delivery, network architecture and implementation, incident investigations and management, and identity and access management.

There is no charge for HDI Regina members.

Non-members are welcome to attend at the cost of $20.00/person.

Payment must be made at the door when you arrive in cash or by cheque.
